

MRS. R. C. CORNELL NOW BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN SAVED

Name of Magistrate's Wife Erroneously Wirelessly as Mrs. O'Connell.

Magistrate Robert C. Cornell, who had been in a state of near collapse over the fate of his wife, a passenger on the Titanic, is more hopeful to-day, for it is believed Mrs. Cornell is among the survivors and that her name was erroneously wirelessly as Mrs. R. O'Connell, cablegrams from Southampton state that no Mrs. R. O'Connell was booked on the Titanic.

"Thank God! That sounds right and I believe it's true," Magistrate Cornell said when notified of the obvious mistake made in transmitting the names of the survivors from the Carpathia.

Magistrate Cornell was one of those who arrived early at the White Star office yesterday, accompanied by two friends. He found on the list of survivors the names of Mrs. E. D. Appleton of Saratoga, L. I., and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Boston, his wife's sisters, who had gone with her to England to attend the funeral of their sister, Lady Drummond.

He was unable to understand how they could have been rescued and his wife lost, as all three occupied the same stateroom. The Magistrate had to be supported by two friends when he left the steamship office, and seemed to have aged ten years. As friends in the crowd who recognized him spoke words of sympathy he seemed in a daze.

For hours he called up at intervals without any definite news, and in the mean time an investigation showed that there had been no Mrs. R. O'Connell on the passenger list and in all probability it was Mrs. R. Cornell who was saved.

DEATH OF A. H. DE HAVEN.

Well Known Banker Only Four Days Ill at Plaza Hotel.

Alexander H. De Haven, a member of the New York Stock Exchange and senior member of the firm of De Haven & Townsend, bankers and brokers, died yesterday at his home in the Plaza Hotel.

Mr. De Haven was born in Philadelphia, Pa., seventy-five years ago and entered the financial field when a young man. He founded the firm of which he was senior member. Death was due to infirmities of old age. He had been ill only four days.

Mr. De Haven was a director of the Standard Trust Company and a member of the Board of Directors of the Oppenheimer Institute. He also was treasurer of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church. He is survived by a widow, a son and two grandchildren.

Commander Booth Held Back.

Commander Evangeline Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in this country, who planned to sail on the Titanic's return trip to England, will start next Wednesday on the Mauretania. She is to confer with her father, Gen. William Booth. She will be accompanied by Col. William Peart, chief secretary of the work in America.

RAILROAD HEAD AND AUTHOR ARE REPORTED SAVED

Unverified Statement From London That Chas. M. Hays and J. Futrelle Survive.

From London to-day came an unverified report that Charles M. Hays, president of the Canadian railroad system, and Jacques Futrelle, the magazine writer, had been picked up by a passing steamship and were being brought to London. Mrs. Futrelle is reported among the survivors on the Carpathia. Until the names of the other 600 persons saved are received thousands of homes will remain under a pall of doubt. And even when the names are received there will be those who cling to the forlorn hope of friends or relatives having been picked up at sea.

The cable island ship Minia has reported that she sighted a mass of wreckage, but no boats or rafts, from the Titanic, and this report dispels the hope that the Minia might have picked up survivors.

The Carpathia will make no stops until she reaches this port. No direct

DON'T SCOLD AN IRRITABLE CHILD

If Tongue Is Coated, Stomach Sour, Breath Fervid, Give "Syrup of Figs" to Clean the Bowels.

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish. Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little one's stomach is disordered, liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste. Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides they dearly love its delightful fig taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour, disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to one teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children. Being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatic licorice, it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine and reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

HARTLEY EXONERATED.

Edwin Hartley, an artist, of No. 321 East Sixteenth street, who was arrested Feb. 25 by order of Assistant District Attorney James B. Reynolds for violation of a section of the Penal Law, was discharged by Judge Foster in General Sessions yesterday. The Grand Jury, after hearing all the evidence against Hartley, refused to indict him. The arrest of Hartley was brought about by a letter received by Mr. Reynolds from a young woman who complained of her treatment by the artist. It was alleged that Hartley had advertised for models and when they appeared in response to the advertisement he insulted them. Hartley in his own defense denied the story told by the young woman.

OCEAN ICE PATROL WOULD SAFEGUARD NORTHERN ROUTE

Bureau of Navigation's Chief Urges the Expediency of Such a Service.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Eugene T. Chamberlaine, chief of the Bureau of Navigation of the Department of Commerce and Labor, said to-day that he favors establishing a patrol of sea-worthy vessels to cover the northern route for the purpose of assisting vessels in distress.

"As a comparatively small cost," he argues, "we could establish a patrol of small vessels which could be posted along the northern coast in the spring when there is danger from icebergs, and when an occasion should arise these ships could go to the assistance of others and notify the world by wireless of the trouble."

When the icebergs come south in the spring of course there is always more or less danger. If we had a number of these patrol ships to do duty in the danger zone they would immediately communicate with the shore or with other vessels at sea when the wireless apparatus of the damaged ship became useless or unmanageable.

"The chief requirement of this proposed patrol would be to have a set of wireless instruments that would be proof against damage of any sort. Their systems would have to be absolutely trustworthy. When they got the first flash from the foundering ship they would give it what assistance possible and then aid greatly by wireless in getting help from all directions.

"Such a patrol would not cost much, and in my mind it would be invaluable."
